LIFE AS A TWIN

Have you ever wondered what it is like to be a twin? Well, I can explain because I am a twin. My name is Bailey and I am 10 minutes older than my identical twin sister, Avery. Being a twin can be pretty cool at times, but other times it can be annoying. Even though people think we look exactly alike, it does not mean we always like the same things. One thing is for certain: No matter what, we can always count on each other.

Having the same face can be fun. For example, we can easily trick people if we want to. We both play fast pitch softball and basketball, and it is funny when we confuse our opponents.

Sometimes, looking like my sister can be annoying, though. People call me by the wrong name almost every day. I have even been yelled at by my mom or dad for something that my sister did, because they thought it was me. Times like that, I wish we looked completely different.

Another bad thing about being a twin is that some people assume that because we look alike, we must enjoy all the same things too. This is not true, though. For example, I do not like peanut butter, but Avery does. I like to go turkey hunting with my dad, but my twin would rather paint her nails and have her hair done. Just because we are twins, we still have our own thoughts, likes, and dislikes. We are two different people and it would be nice to be treated that way.
