The Elves and the Shoemaker

Once upon a time there was a shoemaker who made very good shoes. But though he worked hard in his shop, times were difficult and he became poorer and poorer. One evening he cut out some shoes from his last bit of leather and laid the pieces out on his workbench to sew in the morning when the light was better.

1 → A B C

The next morning when he went over to his workbench, the first thing he saw was a beautiful pair of shoes. He examined them carefully and realized they were made from the leather he had cut out the night before. The shoes were far better than any he had made before. Quickly he placed this fine pair of shoes in his shop window.

2 → A B C

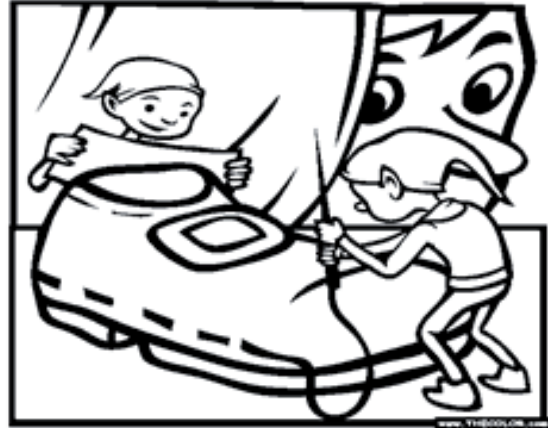

That evening he sat at his workbench and cut out two pairs of shoes from his new leather. He left the pieces laid out as before, all ready to sew in the morning.

3 → A B C

"Who could make such beautiful shoes?" he wondered. "And who could work so fast?"

He placed the shoes in the shop window. Rich people who had never visited his shop before came in to buy them, and paid a lot of money for them.

Each night for many weeks the same thing happened. Two pairs, sometimes four pairs, were made in a night. The shoemaker became well-known for the excellent shoes he sold and his family were happy at last.

A The shoemaker was still thinking about who could have made the shoes when the door opened and in came a gentleman. He asked to buy the shoes he had seen in the window and paid four times more than the shoemaker had ever asked before for a pair of shoes. With this money the shoemaker bought more leather and enough food for his family for several days.

B "I may never make another pair of shoes," he sighed as he closed his shop. "When I finish and sell this pair, I must buy food for my family. Then there will be nothing left over to buy leather to make more shoes."

C Then the shoemaker shut up the shop and went upstairs to join his family. In the morning he could hardly believe his eyes: there were two beautiful pairs of shoes on his workbench.

PIXAR'S BIG-HEARTED DINOSAUR

*ACTOR RAYMOND OCHOA
TALKS ABOUT HIS ROLE IN PIXAR'S THE GOOD DINOSAUR*

- 1 What would life be like if dinosaurs had never become extinct? Pixar imagines that world in the new 3D animated movie The Good Dinosaur. Arlo, a small apatosaurus with a big heart, becomes separated from his family during a rainstorm and gets lost in a vast wilderness. During his journey, he meets a brave child named Spot, who helps him survive. Actor Raymond Ochoa, who voices Arlo, talked to TFK about playing Pixar's newest lead.
- 2 In Ochoa's opinion Arlo is very scared of the world. He uses his dad to guide him through life. When he gets separated from his parents, it's really tough for him. He needs to find his way. Luckily, he has his best friend, Spot.
- 3 Ochoa says that nature in the film is like its own character. When Arlo is by himself and he's scared, the scenery is dark with lightening, thunder, and rain. When Arlo is calm and happy, the weather is sunny and calm.
- 4 The big message of the film is don't judge a book by its cover. Arlo judged Spot to be this evil, bad person. But when Arlo gets lost, Spot is the one helping him and nurturing him.
